II. APPROVAL OF MINUTES

January 30, 2018 – Regular Board Meeting: Member V. Meno made motion to approve the minutes of January 30, 2018 subject to correction. The motion was seconded by member F. Lizama subject to correction and was unanimously passed.

III. PRESIDENT'S REPORT

1. DCA Offices to Relocate to Government-Owned Buildings: Due to cost cutting measures, government agencies were instructed by the Office of the Governor to vacate leased office spaces and seek government-owned building. Office space at the Chamorro Village has been identified for the President's Office and the administrative unit. That space is the Chamorro Village conference room that Hurao Academy is occupying without paying rent. Also, HRRA has been told to relocate as well and will be occupying a small space divided by a wall in that conference room. DCA will need storage space for furniture and have identified the farmer's open space by the Lighthouse. Chairman McDonald asked what type of furniture. President Sablan stated that there are couches and shelves. Chairman McDonald asked if it is needed and President Sablan said it is currently being used. Chairman McDonald asked again if the furniture is needed in the new space and President Sablan said no.

The open space will be enclosed to store the books and other important documents. Also, DCA must seek government-owned space for the cultural repository which is currently at the DNA Bldg. Space was identified next to SHPO in Agaña Heights which is the former Dept. of Parks & Recreation bldg. which is about 2500 sq. ft. and is climate controlled. Professional archaeological consultants are needed to assist in the moving of the collections.

2. Proposed Guam Museum Facility, Rental Fees, and Membership Fees for the Administrative Adjudication Law (Triple A Process): President Sablan requested for Clifford Guzman, Galaide Group President to explain the proposed fees. Mr. Guzman stated that the Guam Museum has been operating on interim rates and in order to move towards sustainability and are faced with fiscal challenges at this the time, the rates have to be addressed. An analysis has been conducted looking at tourist arrivals for the last three years with different categories such as the Free Independent Travelers (FIT) and travelers coming to Guam through tour groups as well as travelers from Korea, Japan, China. In 2017, $257,000 in admission fees, event fees, retail, and café sales. Galaide proposes to increase the admission fees and event fees to reach a revenue goal of $973,000. It is important to reach this revenue goal as the cost to operate the museum is a lot more than we can expect because of the collections management, curation, design, art, research, programming, educational programs and cultural programs. The power bill for the Guam Museum is about $19,000 a month.

In 2013, Knowledge Base conducted an analysis as they have done for museums across the united states. They have proposed suggested rates of $20 for general admission, $15 for students and seniors, $2.00 fieldtrips, and $20 FIT and tour groups. A proposal of "up to" $20 to provide the flexibility based on the market perspective. $20 will be the highest proposed rate. Member V. Meno asked how much is being charged at a Museum in Hawaii. Mr. Guzman said $24.95. Member V. Meno then asked what is being charged in D.C. Mr. Guzman said free as most of it is Smithsonian. New York Metropolitan charges $22.95. Member V. Meno asked if a pilot program can be conducted. Mr. Guzman further explained that the reason there were no rates for veterans, military, etc. because if the "up to" $20 is approved for general admission, then the rates for other categories can be discounted. The prices have to be finalized in April and submit it to Japan for printing in the tour books in October. Prices can change via Board approval.

Mr. Guzman further stated that the event rates has to be a better deal that the hotels as the Guam Museum does not offer the same amenities. For indoor, there is the Theater, Multi-Purpose Room, and the Lobby. The day prices are relatively the same as the current rates. With the current rates, it does not include much as there are additional charges for staff, trash collection and others. The proposed rates have increased to include power and water. Proposing that the multi-purpose room rates stay the same as it is used by non-profit organizations. For outdoor, the Plaza day rate is $900 and evening rate is $1,000. There are not a lot of people renting this space because it is open and even a little bit of rain, it is so high that the rain comes in and that is part of the reason for keeping the rates the same. The Arcade current rates are $850 / $950 and proposing a small increase to include power. The Herbarium current rates are $350 / $400 a proposed increase of $544 / $644 respectively in hopes of future renovations to turn the space into an Åmot Garden. The Amphitheater is located outside where the movies are played. The current rates are $350 / $450 which is inexpensive. The space is bigger and the costs of the projector, sound system, staff, and trash collection, it is harder to clean and harder to keep up. Therefore, the proposed rate is $1,296 / $1,396 respectively. Again, the proposed rates are designed to help the Guam Museum to become self-sustaining and is crucial to obtain accreditation.

N. Calvo added on the Draft rules, part of the fees besides what was mentioned by C. Guzman are the membership fees which the DCA/Galaide are not currently doing. However, the Guam Museum Foundation is doing the membership fees. In order for Museum Foundation to do membership fees, it has to go through the AAA process as they have not done that and need to ensure that the laws are being followed. The proposed membership fees are slightly increased and are compared to the Bishop Museum in Hawaii.

3. Guam Preservation Trust Grant Approval: N. Calvo stated that DCA/GM applied for a $20,000 grant. She got news that the Guam Preservation Trust (GPT) that they had approved a $10,000 grant. Which is good. Will work in getting sponsorships for an additional $11,000. It will be used for a Summer Program for kids and will be working with community groups from Agaña Heights and Sinajana. Chairman McDonald asked what projects the kids will be doing. N. Calvo stated that the kids will be brought to the museum for one week to do a historic walk and tour in Hagåtña such as the Plaza De España, Latte Stone Park, the Lujan House, and the Spanish Bridge. Then, they return to the museum to do activities with local artists and create a mini exhibit for the kids. After the week is done, another community group will do the same. It is a pilot program that is why it is starting out small. L. Iriarte asked if $10,000 is enough to run the pilot program. According to N. Calvo, no it is not enough that is the reason she requested for $21,000 from GPT and $5,000 from the Guam Museum Foundation. Chairman McDonald asked if assistance can be requested from the Mayors as the staff are being paid. N. Calvo said she will work on it.

4. Chamorro Village Business Hours: CV Manager stated that the Chamorro Village is open 7 days a week and current operational hours are Sunday from 10 a.m. – 3 p.m.; Monday – Saturday 10 a.m.– 6 p.m.; and Holidays are optional for merchants.

In December 2017, merchants had circulated a petition to garner support to change the operational hours. The petition resulted 18 out of 42 merchants wanted the hours changed to operate less hours during from Monday thru Saturday and closed on Sundays. CV Manager held a merchant meeting in February 2018 to discuss the operational hours and most of the merchants had expressed the possibility of changing the hours so a survey was conducted.

Early this year, the Chamorro Village lost a few merchants from 42 to 39. The survey had four options for the merchants to choose from. Option 1is the existing hours, option 2 and 3 are the hours mentioned in the merchants' petition, and option 4 is having the merchants propose different hours. The survey results indicated that option 3 had the most responses with 18 of the 39 selecting this option. Would like the Board to discuss this matter.

CV Manager introduced Lasia Casil, President of the Isengsong Merchants Association.

President Sablan asked if there is any action to be taken. Chairman McDonald asked if action needs to be taken now. CV Manager requested for the Board to take action now however, if the Board needs more time then its okay. Chairman McDonald stated that the Board needs time to review and discuss amongst the board members.

5. Homeless and Unwanted Visitors at the Chamorro Village: Member V. Meno commented that there are vendors that close and prepare for catering. Also, he expressed his concern that the tourists visiting the Chamorro Village are being welcomed by homeless people that are not decently dressed. People have approached him asking why they are allowed to come in and sit down. He further stated that the Chamorro Village Manager is aware of the situation. CV Manager responded that it is a daily struggle for CV to deal with certain unwanted individuals who are homeless and who are not. CV is in need of security. Member V. Meno asked how to address this problem. How can the Board address this problem as he is aware that CV does not have the resources. Chairman McDonald replied that the CV Manager and the DCA President can address the issue and provide a proposal at the next board meeting.

President Sablan stated that CV does not have security during the day. With some cost-saving measures, CV will be able to provide at least one security guard which may resolve the situation.

6. Marketing the Chamorro Village: President of Isengsong Merchants Association, Lasia Casil stated that as a tenant of the Chamorro Village, Wednesdays are the business days of the week. Customers have asked her if CV is open during the rest of the week and not a single person tourist or local knows that they're open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. She further stated that they are suffering at CV and has been working with CV Manager with ideas to help market the CV for branding, identity, and slogan. Also, if the Guam Museum would like to bring the summer camp kids to the CV. Ms. Casil added that she will be meeting with the merchants to put more ideas together such as a website, signs, and maps. She will submit a proposal to the CV Manager to submit to the Board. Lastly, the merchants' association has been rejuvenated. President Sablan replied that the issue can be handled at the President's level and to prepare the proposal and submit to the CV Manager.

IV. OLD BUSINESS

No old business discussed.

V. NEW BUSINESS

1. Administrative Adjudication Law (Triple A Process): President Sablan requests the Board to approve DCA to proceed with the Administrative Adjudication process and approve the proposed facility and rental fees and membership fees for the Guam Museum. Vice Chairman L. Iriarte made motion to authorize DCA to proceed forward with the process of the Administrative Adjudication Law and approve the proposed rules, rates, and the Economic Impact Statement for the Guam Museum. Motion was seconded by Member V. Meno and was unanimously approved.

2. Termination of Office Space Lease: President Sablan reiterated that in light of the government's fiscal crisis and cost-cutting measures, the Office of the Governor had instructed government agencies with commercial leases to seek and relocate to government-owned offices. President Sablan requests the Board to approve DCA to terminate its office space lease at the Terlaje Building and the DNA Bldg. as there is no funding to pay rental space. Member V. Meno made motion to authorize DCA to terminate the lease agreements with the Terlaje Building and the DNA Bldg. Motion was seconded by Member L. Iriarte and was unanimously approved.

3. Moving Operations of DCA to Chamorro Village: President Sablan requests the Board to approve DCA to move to the Chamorro Village and other government-owned buildings. Member L. Iriarte asked what percentage of operations will be moving to Chamorro Village. President Sablan stated that there are three administrative (3) staff that will move to Chamorro Village. HRRA another division of DCA will be moving to the Chamorro Village as well pending HRRA Board approval. Member F. Lizama agrees with the movement, however the office space is not sufficient. Why can't DCA use Dept. of Parks and Recreation (DPR) as they have a big building next to Chamorro Village. President Sablan replied that a DPR building has been identified and is located in Agaña Heights. He further stated that government agencies have been asked to assist government agencies seeking office space. Member F. Lizama's concern is that DCA will be all over the place. Centralize DCA to Chamorro Village. He further asked if there were other vacant spaces and CV Manager replied that only food vendor spaces are available and will be occupied soon. President Sablan stated that DCA needs to reoccupy the conference room that Hurao is currently occupying. Member L. Iriarte made motion to authorize DCA to move its operations to Chamorro Village and the Guam Museum. Motion was seconded by member V. Meno and was unanimously approved.

4. Use of Chamorro Village Non-Appropriated Funds: President Sablan requests the Board to approve DCA to use Chamorro Village non-appropriated funds. Chairman McDonald asked if there were other funding that can be used. President Sablan replied that there is no other funding that can be used. He further explained that because DCA will be moving to the Chamorro Village, funding is needed to enclose space for its operational use. Secretary M. Vilante made motion to authorize the use of Chamorro Village non-appropriated funds for the enclosure of space for DCA operations. Motion was seconded by member F. Lizama and was unanimously approved.

VI. OTHER DISCUSSION / ANNOUNCEMENT

1. Museum Repository: Member F. Lizama asked what is being stored at the DNA Bldg. President Sablan replied that the 2nd floor is used to store artifacts and the 3rd floor is used to store human remains. They are stored in a climate-controlled space to ensure it does not deteriorate. There are over 200 boxes of human remains and must be relocated to DPR. Currently, DCA is paying $155,000 a year to occupy two floors. If the collections are relocated to DPR, there will be no rent fee however, DCA will absorb the cost of power.

2. Mes Chamorro: Member V. Meno recommended that the staff at the Guam Museum when speaking about our culture, our tradition, and our language, he observed that they are not wearing the right attire and recommended that they wear Chamorro attire.

3. Archaeologist Mike Carson: Member L. Iriarte shared that he had been working with Mike Carson doing work on the early part of Chamorro pre-history and had shared with the Board previously on a book that was published. He recommended that the book be included in your library.

weight loss or physical self harm, the staff can work with the individual to provide more intensive treatment.

Some patients have co-occurring disorders (more than one disorder, like bipolar disorder and depression), which will require specified treatment plans.

Whatever your condition is, the wellness center's caring staff will work with you to give you the help you need for your individual needs.

You can still receive treatment whether or not you have health insurance, Pinaula said.

"For counseling, we have the ability to charge individuals with insurance, but most of the people who come through our doors are unable to pay," Pinaula said. "We will provide them services regardless."

Beyond counseling, social work, and inpatient and outpatient services, the Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center has to come to the office, social workers will come to them, Pinaula said.

The wellness center also started creating podcasts recently, for the staff to share what they do with the community.

"There are a bunch of professionals here who truly truly care about you," Pinaula said. "You're not by yourself, and there are people waiting to engage with you and to help you."

To reach the Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center, call 647-5440.

If you need help or someone to talk to, call their crisis hotline at 647-8833 or 647-8834.

If you'd like to set up therapy with a private practice doctor, you can check your insurance company's directory for a list of health professionals.

Call doctors to see if they'll be able to work with the issues you're going through, and ask about copay rates before setting an appointment.

The Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center also offers services for children and adolescents.

Their I'Famagu'on-ta ter's website.

Parents can bring their children to the Hagåtña office to be assessed, so professionals can find out what the child needs and how the staff can support the entire family unit, according to communications manager Nia Serneo.

"Our approach is different from working with adults, so we figure out how we can assist the child and support them in school, in their family group, and what kind of coping skills they need to develop," Serneo said.

For more information, call Serneo at 300-8369 or their administrator at 477-5349 or 300-4081.

Pinaula said many people come into the wellness center seeking help for depression in particular.

"Children and young adults are exposed to a lot of pressures, so much more than the other generations gone past," he said.

Social media is a large driving force in young people's depression, according to Pinaula.

"When you're looking at Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, Twitter and all that, said. "It seems to play a big role in how these young folks see themselves."

Seeing others always doing fun activities, going on vacation, or sharing big life milestones on social media can lead people into depression, Pinaula said.

"Unfortunately some of them don't have a very good outlook on their own life because of it," he said. "Social media isn't that real, and everyone is posting the good things and not the real things going on in their lives."

Pinaula suggests people take a break from screens and social media, to give yourself peace of mind and to let your mind relax.

Meditation and taking time to appreciate the small things in life are effective in getting to a better mental state too, he said.

Examples may convince management to change

Dear Annie
Annie Lane

Dear Annie: I work in health and wellness for the largest retailer in the world. I love my job, but there are so many things I don't understand.

Management is always on us about making money (which I understand), but no matter what we do, it is never enough. We reside in a depressed area and really do quite well for where we live.

With all the pressure management puts on us about sales and eliminating waste, our district manager demands that we work such wasteful hours. We are at the office until 8 in the evening even though no one comes in that late. I keep looking for something to do. We work from 12 to 5 on Sundays, and usually there are no customers — just people walking by asking, "Why are you working on a Sunday?" On Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day and other holidays, we work from 9 to 6. It is not unusual to have customers who are on vacation and want trial contact lenses because theirs are ripped or lost. When we can't give them what they want (we need a doctor's permission to give out contacts), they become irate. Sometimes it gets intense. This is pretty much how the day goes — dealing with irate customers and getting no sales.

What can we do to let members of management know there are better ways to treat their employees and still save money? They simply will not listen. It's typical top-down management. Things are good for those who are on top but frustrating for those who aren't so far up the ladder.

— Love My Job but Just Don't Understand

Dear LMJBJDU: Many companies today have wised up to the value of employee feedback and started conducting periodic reviews. If your employer does, take the opportunity to share your insights. Focus on what the company stands to gain by cutting back during low-traffic hours. Your case will be more convincing if you can offer some concrete examples — so the next time you're working one of these shifts, take notes on sales, staffing, etc. Because it's such a huge retailer with stores nationwide, there may be blanket policies that your managers have to follow even if they don't make much sense at your location. But it's worth at least proffering your two cents.

If management brushes you off and things continue not to change, it might be time to channel your frustration into filling out some job applications — preferably with smaller companies, where you might be able to play a bigger role.

Dear Annie: While shopping at our local grocery, I overheard an elderly woman complaining that the new digital coupons limit her from getting the reduced price. She does not have a smartphone with which to pull up the coupons, nor does she know how to use a computer. She expressed that this is unfair to older people (many of whom really need the reduced prices) who would like to be able to participate in this program. I wonder whether any of the companies that have gone digital have considered this problem.

— Digital Age Discrimination

Dear Digital Age Discrimination: A smartphone isn't always necessary, as many companies allow customers to download and print coupons from their websites — but that still presents a frustrating obstacle for seniors who aren't familiar with using a computer or don't have access to one.

Rather than give up, I would encourage anyone in this boat to call the Eldercare Locator (800-677-1116) to find a class for people new to technology.

Coming to terms with getting another year older

Dear Annie
Annie Lane

Dear Annie: My 30th birthday is just around the corner, and it's bothering me more than I'd like to admit. I know that right about now, people older than I am are probably reading this and feeling insulted and/or rolling their eyes.

A few months ago, I noticed crow's-feet starting at the corner of one eye. They don't bother me for cosmetic reasons. It's just that seeing wrinkles reminds me I'm getting older and time is passing more and more quickly.

Do you have any advice on coping with this whole aging thing?

– Twenty-Something

Dear Twenty-Something: Treat every day like the gift it is and you'll come to view growing older as a blessing. After all, some people don't get the chance to do it.

Make time your ally rather than your enemy. The trick to this is taking up hobbies and pursuing goals you truly care about. I'd also recommend volunteering with a local nonprofit.

Dear Annie: I read a poignant letter in your column from "Ann in Illinois." It was about some abandoned dogs. I wanted to share something that happened to me that sheds some light on how some strays become "abandoned."

In 2011, I was traveling cross-country to a dream job. I packed up my old car with what I'd need to get started again and loaded up my elderly dog and two older cats, and off we went. At one point, I stopped to let my dog out to stretch and do her business. But when I opened the door, one of my cats broke out of his kennel and took off. Long story short, while trying to chase him, I slipped on wet grass and broke my ankle. It was a full week before I was released from the hospital. I checked in to the Super 8 that was close to where I'd lost my cat and used the last of my money to stay another week, hobbling out to the parking lot and calling for him. But he was never found.

I'm sure that anyone who might have picked him up from that parking area thought someone had dumped him.

If anyone reading this picked up a beautiful silver tabby with blue eyes and a crumpled ear in May 2011, that was my Mookie. I hope he found safety and love, because he was deeply loved by me. I miss him every day.

– Marcia in Oregon

Dear Marcia: You're right. One shouldn't assume every stray animal was abandoned.

Dear Annie
Annie Lane

Dear Annie: I'm very frustrated, and I would like your opinion, please.

My daughter-in-law doesn't seem to realize that some of the things she does really hurt me. I've always been there for my son and daughter-in-law. I try very hard to be a good mother-in-law. I never interfere. I never show up without calling, and I hardly ever ask them for help because I know how busy they are.

I have changed my plans and moved my work schedule around so I could baby-sit, take my grandchild to some activities or watch their house and pets while they're gone.

Her mom is not reliable and not allowed to baby-sit because she can't be trusted. I'm asked to do most things, which I don't mind, but I feel her mother gets invited to so much, whereas I have to ask.

I'm just afraid I'm losing the closeness that I had with my grandchild. – Left Out in California

Dear Left Out: It's time to stop bending over backward for them and start standing up for yourself. Flexibility and generosity are great attributes – but without communication, they're a recipe for resentment.

Talk to your son about how you're feeling. Let him know that you respect their need for space and family time but you don't want the only time you see them to be when they're dropping off your granddaughter to be baby-sat. And you shouldn't only get to see your granddaughter when you're babysitting her. Express your desire to be there for special events. And set personal boundaries, such as deciding not to rearrange your work schedule just so you can baby-sit.

Whatever happens, know that their deferral to her mother is most likely a matter not of playing favorites but of avoiding fights.
