EDUCATION:

1978	MA, Geology	Brooklyn College, NYC, NY
1976	MA, Anthropology	University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM
1971	BS, Geology	York College, NYC, NY

WORK EXPERIENCE:

2015-Date I am the Cultural Resources Manager for Andersen Air Force Base and an archaeologist for NSA Andersen. I write Section 106 consultations and otherwise manage the historic resources on the Base.

2014-2015 I was an Archaeologist with the Guam Department of Parks and Recreation, Historic Resources Division. I am responsible for review and compliance, Section 106 and other Federal consultations, National Register of Historic Places Nominations (Agana Naval Cemetery; Fonte Dam; Cañada Wells; Pugua Point), and field inspections of ongoing construction and archaeology projects

1999-2014 Collegiate Associate Professor, (Anthropology and Geosciences) University of Maryland University College, Asia (1 to 4 courses per 8-week term) I have taught the following: Introduction to Geology, Geology Laboratory, Introduction to Oceanography, Introduction to Geography, Introduction to Archaeology and Physical Anthropology, Introduction to Cultural Anthropology and Linguistics, Introduction to Archaeology, Introduction to Biological Anthropology, Information Literacy and Research Methods, Math 001, Math 009, Math 012 (all three remedial), and Math 103 College Algebra

1994*- 2013 Instructor at the University of Guam
I have taught: GE 101, Introduction to Geography; GE 201, World Regional Geography; GE 203, Physical Geography w/Lab; GE 321 Economic Geography as a reading and conference course; GE/AN 341 Cultural Ecology; GE 401 Geography of the Pacific; and, GE 461, Conservation and Natural Resources Management; AN 101, Introduction to Anthropology; AN 320, People of the Pacific. (*Adjunct starting in 1994, but full-time starting Fall 1999.)

2002- 2011 Archaeology Consultant, Guam Historic Preservation Office (Part time)

Doc. No. 34GL-18-1989.

I primarily reviewed reports, entered GIS information, worked on review and compliance, checked field projects and wrote national register nominations.

1992-1999 Office Manager, International Archaeological Research Institute, Inc., Guam Office.
Responsible for managing office, client liaison, proposal writing, budget development, directing Cultural Resources Management (CRM) projects, writing project reports and research documents. Among many projects during my tenure in this position I developed a Legacy Research project at Andersen Air Force Base, Guam, and a major project in Palau for Palau National Communications Corporation that continued for three years. I worked on Saipan and Tinian in addition to Guam.

1985-1993* Instructor of Anthropology, Department of Sociology/Anthropology, Southern Oregon State College (now Southern Oregon University)
Developed curriculum, revised curriculum guidelines, part of search team for new hires to the department, sat on two tenure committees. Elected to graduate faculty. Courses taught include: Outlines of Anthropology, Introduction to Cultural Anthropology, Hunters and Gatherers, Anthropological Film, Human Ecology, Sex, Evolution and Human Behavior, Introduction to Physical Anthropology, Primate Ecology and Behavior, Archaeology/Physical Anthropology, Introduction to Archaeology, Archaeology of North America, Southwestern Archaeology, Archaeology of California, and Field Archaeology. (*Half-time with the exception of one year at Full-time. On leave Fall 1992 for academic year.)

1979-1985 Lecturer in Environmental Studies, University of San Diego.
Taught lecture and laboratory sections in the Physical Geology course Part of a team of faculty members who coordinated and led semiannual field trips for students, along the southern California coast, and within the Anza-Borrego Desert.

1984-1985 Lecturer in Geology, Grossmont Community College.
Taught the Physical Geology course.

1982 - 1983 Planning Specialist, NEW HORIZONS Planning Consultants
Researched and prepared studies in the areas of geology, archaeology, traffic, "New Town" economic development, land-use and urban planning, geothermal resource development, and solid-waste to electricity conversion. Responsible for proposal writing, coordinating the activities of consultants and subcontractors, document editing, and ultimately the timely completion of Environmental Impact Reports, planning documents and technical reports. Directly involved with the sales and marketing efforts of the firm, and frequently represented clients before various administrative bodies on the City and County level.

1981 - 1982 Instructor, Exploring Family School
Taught: Biology, Science, Spanish 1, Earth Science, Humans and the Environment, Indians of California, and Algebra (Levels 1,2,3.)

1979 - 1981 Vice-President, MSA Inc., Environmental Consultants
I functioned in a variety of roles ranging from researcher and technical writer to marketing and client liaison. Started in 1979 as a consultant, became Vice-President after one year.

1977 - 1979 Exploration Geologist and Senior Archaeologist with Phillips Uranium Corporation, Albuquerque, NM
I began working as a development geologist in the San Juan Basin of New Mexico and subsequently was promoted to exploration geologist in the Basin and Range. Developed potential project areas and managed drilling programs. Developed research designs, budgets, obtained drilling rights, and oversaw contract personnel. Directed cultural resource management efforts with regard to compliance with the numerous State and Federal permit requirements which preceded mineral exploration activities in Utah, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, and Texas (for Phillips Coal, Dallas).

ONGOING RESEARCH:

Human-Ecology Research involves the investigation of Haputo village at NCTS Guam. The project was funded by the Japanese Government for 3 years from 2009 to 2011, and we were recently renewed for an additional 4 years starting in July 2013. We have recently begun to investigate a site in Inarajan that spans the end of the Pre-Latte and beginning of the Latte Periods.
