Re: Enforcement of Quarantine Orders

Håfa Adai Speaker Muña Barnes:

I share your concern about the threat that we face as a community when individuals violate the mandatory quarantine measures imposed by Governor Leon Guerrero and the Department of Public Health and Social Services (DPHSS). Since the start of the COVID-19 public health emergency, our office has been in active discussion with our GovGuam partners in preparing for situations where individuals refuse to follow quarantine or isolation orders.

After learning about allegations over the weekend that individuals who tested positive for COVID-19 violated quarantine orders, we contacted DPHSS for additional information. At this point, however, no matters have been referred to our office. As you know, media reports standing alone are not enough to determine whether laws have been broken and what courses of action are available. A report or referral would greatly assist our determination of whether criminal charges or other penalties are appropriate or if additional investigation is needed.

As you have noted, the vast majority of people in Guam continue to do their part to prevent the spread of COVID-19. The government should not tolerate noncompliance by those who have not, whether they are residents of or visitors to our island. Our office stands ready to take action, and we look forward to continuing to work with you to ensure the safety of our community.

Sinseramente,

LEEVIN TAITANO CAMACHO
