Tennis center receives improvements

Pacific Daily News

The Guam National Tennis Federation celebrated the completion of several improvements to the Guam National Tennis Center with a ribbon-cutting ceremony yesterday.

Located at the Northern Sports Complex in Dededo, the tennis center received improvements to the facility that costs $146,500, according to a release from the governor's office. Those improvements included grading, resurfacing and refurbishing of the parking lot which costs $106,500 and $40,000 for the installation of stairs and safety railings.

COURTESY OF THE OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

Guam's leaders join the Guam National Tennis Federation in a ribbon-cutting ceremony that celebrates the completion of several improvements to the Guam National Tennis Center on Sept. 13, 2022.

Gov. Lou Leon Guerrero was also in attendance and spoke about growing young athletes in the community. "Our administration honors the value of empowering young aspiring athletes and our athletic communities," said Leon Guerrero. "We are proud to invest in the advancement of the Guam National Tennis Center and to support the Guam National Tennis Federation as they help our children develop healthy habits for life. As we address the pandemic's effects on mental health, we will continue to prioritize the social and emotional well-being of our students by revitalizing the recreational spaces that will help ensure they reach their greatest potential."

The project was funded through the Governor's Education Assistance and Youth Empowerment Grant Program.

'Thursday Night Football' now on Amazon Prime

Associated Press

Not many people get to be a pioneer at 77 years old, especially in sports broadcasting.

That will be the case, though, when Al Michaels calls Thursday night's game between the Los Angeles Chargers and Kansas City Chiefs on Prime Video.

The matchup between AFC West rivals kicks off an 11-year agreement between Amazon and the NFL and marks the first time the league has sold a package of games to a streaming service.

"It wasn't that long ago I had no idea what streaming was, as did a lot of us. I find it exciting because all of my friends, my kids, and grandkids all think this is about the coolest thing in the world," said Michaels, who will team up with Kirk Herbstreit and sideline reporter Kaylee Hartung.

"I said to somebody, 'They think we're coming over the Rockies in a covered wagon.' I said, 'We're coming over the Rockies in broadband. We are the pioneers.'"

AP PHOTO

Amazon won the rights to the prime-time package last March. It was initially supposed to begin in 2023, along with the rest of the league's broadcasting contracts, but two months later, the NFL announced that Amazon would take over the Thursday night package from Fox a year earlier.

That left Amazon with 15 months to get everything up and running. It marks the first time since Fox in 1994 that a new broadcasting partner has been brought into the NFL framework.

For Marie Donoghue, Amazon's vice president of Global Sports Video, Thursday's game marks a rewarding end of a four-year quest to bring the NFL to the company.

Donoghue was an executive VP at ESPN for 19 years and saw what the NFL could do for Prime Video much as it did when ESPN and Fox began carrying games.

Biggest concern

The biggest concern about any event that is streamed live is video quality, along with making sure the infrastructure can handle the demands. Jared Stacy, Prime Video's director of Global Live Sports Production, was already in the production truck at Arrowhead Stadium Tuesday afternoon going over final preparations, including covering all contingencies.

Amazon and the NFL also have a prior working history. Amazon Web Services has partnered with the league for Next Gen Stats since 2015, while Prime Video has simulcast Thursday night games since 2017.

Tritons start off strong in fall hoops

Pacific Daily News

Fall basketball season began for the University of Guam Men's Basketball team as they played against the Dosidos in "Take It To The South 3" tournament hosted by the MicroFiends basketball club.

The Tritons defeated Dosidos 63-60 on Sunday at the Talo'fo'fo Community Center with the Tritons ready to take names, according to a release from UOG's Triton Athletics.

The team jumped out to a fast start and quickly led 15-2 behind the eight points scored early by Francis Borja, a freshman from John F. Kennedy High School. After a Dosidos timeout, the Tritons returned and had their first lead at 18-17 with 12 minutes left in the first half, according to the release.

The Tritons didn't stop and took control again in the last few minutes of the first half and lead 38-29 at half-time.

Dosidos picked up the momentum during the second half, keeping it a close game. The Tritons held on to that lead for most of the final 20 minutes and with 50 seconds to go, it was tied 58-58, but Borja hit five-of-five free throws down the stretch and the Tritons were able to hold on for a 63-60 win, according to the release.

Francis Borja led the Tritons with 22 points and Logan Hopkins added 10 points to the win. Former Triton Ryan Nangauta led Dosidos with 21 points, according to the release.

University of Guam Tritons' Francis Borja scored 22 points for the team during "Take It To The South 3" tournament on Sept. 18, 2022, at the Talo'fo'fo Community Center. The Tritons defeated Dosidos 63-60.
